Top 5 Conferences To Be Held In 2020

1. Awwwards Conference

This is the highest-attended digital design awards platform all around the world. Every year it organizes events and conferences in major cities of the world such as New York, Paris, Amsterdam, and London, among others. It discovers new and emerging trends, latest and advanced technologies, and the limits of the internet.

The main aim of Awwwards Conference Toronto is to bring web professionals from different parts of the world to one point and let them find inspiration for their next move. In short, they create a space for debate where different people can share their knowledge and experience and help each other to perfect their skills.

In 2020, Awwwards Conference has been planned to be organized in the month of July and it will continue for 3 days. Prestigious speakers and seasoned professionals will be part of the event and also educational workshops will be a bonus. Well, that's not all since this year people will witness the launch of Dev Sessions which will be held during the conference. They are golden opportunities you must not miss since you can meet and exchange ideas with some really talented web developers on the site.

Its primary mission is to recognize and promote the talent of web designers, developers, and companies who create truly unique digital experiences for online users.

4. The Customer Validation Conference

This conference is set to conduct virtually on April 7-9, 2020.

This year's event is much more interesting than before since you will get to learn a lot about product testing and customer engagement tips. To be expressive, you will have the opportunity to gather enough knowledge about pre-release customer testing strategies and figure out how instant product feedback can contribute to driving effective recommendations for your next release - and guess what, all this happens while supporting your agile methods.

Apart from this, you will also take a deep dive into how industry leaders are developing a customer-obsessed culture, enhancing product development, and incorporating their programs in continuous development. And most importantly, you will hear about some of the game-changing practices they have implemented in their organization.

5. The STAREAST Virtual Conference

Like the Customer Validation Conference, this conference will also be organized virtually on May 4-7, 2020. The STAREAST Virtual conference will stream live and its highlights will be some keynote presentations, selected technical presentations, and a few more than a couple of interviews with speakers, and other experts who will participate in the event. What's nice about this conference is that it also offers the chance to chat during live sessions with attendees being present in the event. On top of that, you will have access to visit the virtual exhibition hall to look out a few recent demos and other offerings from the solution providers.
